Zero tolerance on anonymity as cover for online crime: Minister

New amendments to social media rules to be finalised before July–end after consultations

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, 7 June

The government has 'zero tolerance' on anonymity being a cover for crimes committed online, and production of evidence during the course of a criminal investigation is an "unambiguous obligation" on intermediaries and players, IT Minister Rajeev Chandrasekhar said on Tuesday.

He was responding to a question about some VPN providers pulling out servers from India in the aftermath of the new cybersecurity rules introduced recently, even as they have purportedly assured users of continued services.

The minister also said the government was "open" to big tech platforms suggesting an effective self-regulatory appellate mechanism that can offer

“YOU DON'T GIVE US DATA. WE DON'T WANT ANY DATA. BUT WHEN THERE IS AN ILLEGALITY COMMITTED, YOU SHOULD BE IN A POSITION TO PRODUCE THE DATA AND INFORMATION ABOUT WHO COMMITTED IT...”

RAJEEV CHANDRASEKHAR, IT minister

a "better solution" to resolve grievances raised by social media users, asserting new amendments to social media rules will be finalised before July-end after extensive consultations.

The comment assumes significance as the Centre is proposing to set up a grievance appellate committee to look into appeals filed by individuals against decisions of grievance officers of social media platforms.

The Ministry of Electronics and IT has mandated cloud service providers, VPN (Virtual Private Network) firms, data centre companies and virtual private server providers to store users' data for at least five years.

Following this, there have been reports that Express VPN has removed its servers from India, becoming the first major VPN player to do so after the cybersecurity rules were introduced.

"There are some companies who believe that anonymity is their express marketing USP. For us, anonymity is not a safe harbour for criminality," the minister said, observing that some companies had build their entire business model around anonymity.

The production of evidence in case of a crime, or during investigation, is an "absolutely unambiguous obligation" of every intermediary, he said.

"You don't give us data. We don't want any data. But when there is an illegality committed, you should definitely be in a position to produce the data and information about who committed it..." the minister said.

He further said, "We are going to have zero tolerance on anonymity being a cover for crime online." To another question on his meeting with gaming startups, the minister indicated that discussions would be around creation of a framework.

On whether there is a possibility of a central level rule or law to oversee gaming, he said, "We will see."

Govt unveils policy for air sports, sees 10x annual revenue growth

ARINDAM MAJUMDER
New Delhi, 7 June

The Union Ministry of Civil Aviation (MoCA) on Tuesday announced the country's first national air sports policy (NASP 2022), which will cover aerobatics, aeromodelling, model rocketry, amateur-built and experimental aircraft, ballooning, and drones.

Gliding and powered gliding, hang-gliding and powered hang-gliding, parachuting — including skydiving, BASE jumping and wingsuit flying — paragliding and paramotoring (including powered parachute trikes), powered aircraft and rotorcraft, will also be covered under the policy.

"The youth of India represent the future of aero sports. Programmes aimed at raising interest in aerial sports will be encouraged. Schools, colleges, and universities will be encouraged to have air sports included in the curriculum," Union Civil Aviation Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia said.

He said ₹80-100 crore of revenue is generated from airports annually and the figure could rise 10 times. "From a small market size of around 5,000-odd air sports practitioners creating around ₹80-100 crore of annual revenue in India, I feel we can target over ₹8,000-10,000 crore annual revenue and generate over 1,00,000 direct jobs. The economic multiplier benefits in terms of travel, tourism, support services and local infrastructure development will be over three times."

The policy proposes a two-tier governance structure for air sports in the country, which will include an apex governing body called the Air Sports Federation of India (ASFI) and associations for each air sport.

The ASFI will be an autonomous body under the Ministry of Civil Aviation and will represent India at the Lausanne (Switzerland)-headquartered Fédération Aéronautique Internationale (FAI) and other global platforms related to air sports. It will provide governance over various aspects of air sports, such as regulation, certification, competitions, awards and penalties.

The minister said the armed forces of India, Central Armed Police Forces and various state police forces have excellent training facilities for air sports. "ASFI will engage with the ministries of defence and home affairs, and state police forces to explore opportunities for extending their facilities to the public at a reasonable fee," the policy says.

Other than direct revenue, air sports activities will gain more from growth of travel, tourism, infrastructure, and local employment, especially in the hilly regions.

FROM A MARKET SIZE OF 5,000-ODD AIR SPORTS PRACTITIONERS CREATING AROUND ₹80-100 CRORE OF ANNUAL REVENUE IN INDIA, WE CAN TARGET OVER ₹8,000-10,000 CRORE ANNUAL REVENUE AND GENERATE OVER 100,000 DIRECT JOBS

Union Civil Aviation Minister

Green open access okayed for below 100-Kw users

To increase the purchase of renewable energy in the country, the Union government has allowed smaller electricity consumers, below 100 Kw, to purchase green energy through open access.

Open access allows a consumer to buy electricity from a source of its choice. Earlier, green energy open access was restricted till 1 Mw consumption level.

The move is expected to draw the attention of smaller industries and commercial consumers or large households to shift to green energy.

Through a Gazette notification, the power ministry notified "Green Open Access" Rules, 2022. It said these rules are for "promoting generation, purchase and consumption of green energy including the energy from Waste-to-Energy plants".

RBI...

Crude oil prices scaling back to the $120 per barrel level also impacted the currency, with India importing 80 per cent of its requirements.

Despite trading above 78 levels early morning in NDF (non-deliverable forwards), onshore USDINR opened quite flat around 77.2 levels and ended yet another day within a tight range of 5 paise. The pair remains well protected below 77.80 levels amid strong selling coming from PSUs on behalf of the RBI and apparent participation by foreign banks and corporates," said Amit Pabari, managing director, CR Forex Advisors. The rupee hit an all-time closing low on May 19, when it ended at 77.73/$, while intra-day record low was 77.80 on May 17.

Meanwhile, the dollar surged as rising US Treasury yields supported the greenback, pushing the Japanese yen to its lowest level against the dollar in two decades. The yen dropped to a 20-year low of 133 per dollar.

Throughout the day, the rupee managed to remain well under 77.73 levels and as the onshore trade wrapped, the pair again moved above 77.80 in NDF. This clearly signifies that the RBI has held the reins of the rupee strong to avoid any unprecedented volatility amid shaky market sentiments," Pabari said.

The central bank has beefed up its intervention in the foreign exchange market since the Indian unit came under pressure after the Russia-Ukraine war broke out in late February. There has been intervention in all three segments of the market — spot, futures and the offshore. In April, the RBI sold $2 billion on a net basis in the spot market — a record high — which slowed the pace of currency depreciation.

The rupee has depreciated 4.34 per cent in 2022, and 2.5 per cent in the current financial year. In May, the currency depreciated 1.6 per cent against the dollar amid aggressive intervention by the central bank. RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das earlier said that the central bank did not allow a runaway depreciation of the currency. Surging crude prices, foreign fund outflows, broad dollar strength and firm US bonds are expected to keep the Indian rupee under pressure," IFA Global said in a note.

Sensex...

The 10-year Indian bond yield hit a three-year high at 7.5 per cent, while the 10-year US bond yield was at 3.02 per cent, closer to the highs it hit on June 5, 2022. "The move higher in US yields could well be in anticipation of the $96 billion of US government bond sales hitting markets this week in the 3-, 10- and 30-year tenors," said Jeffrey Halley, senior market analyst, Asia Pacific, OANDA. Market experts said investors were hesitant to take bets on risky assets as heightened volatility diminished the chances of markets holding onto gains. The tapering of monetary stimulus and geopolitical tensions have led to questions about how these measures could hurt economic activity and corporate earnings.

The European Central Bank (ECB) is also likely to end its monetary easing and develop a plan to end its negative interest rate regime that has been in place for the last eight years.

ECB officials had hinted at rate hikes after Eurozone inflation hit a record high in May. At present, ECB's deposit rate is at 0.5 per cent.

On Tuesday, Australia's central bank announced a rate hike and signalled more hikes to rein in inflation.

Going forward, apart from the RBI's announcement, US inflation data on Friday is expected to guide the market trajectory this week.

"An 8.5 per cent plus US inflation print could see it start to price in a recession and head to inversion in parts, as the data reinforce Fed tightening. In a stagflationary environment, central banks don't have a good choice, just least bad ones. I don't think the US is at stagflation yet, but if oil stays above $120 a barrel, it might soon be," said Halley.

Vinod Nair, head of research, Geojit Financial Services, said the volatility in the market was forcing investors to stay on the sidelines ahead of the RBI's policy announcement. "The market has factored a hike up to 50 bps of repo rate and CRR, but any further stricter measures to clamp liquidity due to lingering inflation will impact the market trend. Apart from the monetary measures, the RBI's growth and inflation forecast guidance will determine the market trend," he said.

The market breadth was weak, with 2,052 stocks declining and 1,250 advancing.

Parekh...

Commenting on the Indian housing finance market, he said the country should be able to double the size of its home loan market to around $600 billion in the next five years.

"This would coincide with the period when India attains its much-aspired goal of becoming a $5-trillion economy. Despite the doubling of housing loans, India's mortgage penetration would still remain low at an estimated 13 per cent of GDP," he said.

Parekh said that in order to take India's mortgage-to-GDP ratio to cross 20 per cent, housing loans would have to grow exponentially in decades to come.

World Bank...

Rating agency S&P and the International Monetary Fund were among agencies that had recently cut their FY23 forecast for India. At 7.5 per cent, the World Bank's forecast is still slightly more bullish than the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI's) forecast of 7.2 per cent.

India's economy grew 8.7 per cent in 2021-22, making it the fastest-growing major economy in the world. The output was helped primarily by the agriculture sector and the government final consumption expenditure.

On Wednesday, the RBI's monetary policy committee is expected to announce a repo rate cut of at least 50 basis points as inflation hits household savings and corporate margins. The Centre, meanwhile, slashed excise duties on petrol and diesel, placed export curbs on items, including wheat, and cut duties on other items to keep prices in check.

A rise in prices across all items from fuel and vegetables to cooking oil pushed the wholesale price index-based inflation rate to a series high of 15.08 per cent in April and retail inflation to a near eight-year high of 7.79 per cent.

"Following more than two years of the pandemic, spillovers from the Russian Federation's invasion of Ukraine are set to sharply hasten the deceleration of global economic activity, which is now expected to slow to 2.9 per cent in 2022," World Bank said on global growth prospects. It said that the war in Ukraine is leading to high commodity prices, adding to supply disruptions, increasing food insecurity and poverty, exacerbating inflation, contributing to tighter financial conditions, magnifying financial vulnerability, and heightening policy uncertainty.
